The Expert Advisory Group

European and South Mediterranean Expertise
on Conflict Prevention and Resolution

EXPERT ADVISORY GROUP

Concept

The Expert Advisory Group

is a non-resident think tank initialised by the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung in 2007.

works on foreign policy and security issues in the northern and southern Mediterranean region with the focus on conflict prevention and resolution.

seeks to create a knowledge-based network between researchers, policy makers, think tanks and universities.

aims at contributing to the development of sustainable relations between actors in the field of security policy.

brings together security policy experts from the southern and northern region of the Mediterranean.

EXPERT ADVISORY GROUP

Activities

The Expert Advisory Group

holds regular workshops to elaborate security policy recommendations on the latest political and security developments in the region.

discusses findings with experts and representatives of governmental and non-governmental institutions.

publishes policy papers to present its findings and policy recommendations.
